

A Message regarding Coronavirus (COVID-19)

There is nothing more important to Precision Elevator than the health and safety of our customers, employees and the people who rely on our products and services every day.

We are actively monitoring the coronavirus (COVID-19) situation and taking all necessary precautions to ensure and enforce strict health and safety measures. We are continuing to complete elevator maintenance as per T.S.S.A mandated Regulations to ensure the safety of your elevator equipment.

Understanding that the situation is changing every day, here's what we're doing right now:

- All employees have undergone our Covid-19 Health and Safety Training.
- All employees have been given appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE) and we continue to monitor and increase if necessary our (PPE) equipment weekly.
- All employees are reminded to exercise personal health and hygiene recommendations provided by the World Health Organization (WHO)
- Employees who are feeling ill or display any symptoms of Covid-19 are required to inform their Supervisor and self quarantine for 14 days.
- We have informed our Employees if they have travelled out of Country they are required to self quarantine for 14 days prior to returning to work.
- We have made special arrangements with our customers if necessary to accommodate any new Covid-19 health and safety requirements.
- We are actively following the travel and health advisories of national and local governments and the WHO.

For tips on practicing social distancing in elevators review these recommendations from the National Elevator Industry (NEII). <https://nationalelevatorindustry.org/tips-for-riders-related-to-covid-19/>

Again, our first priority during this time and always is the health and well-being of our employees, customers and the riding public.

Precision Elevator Team